

30 INJURED IN LONDON RIOTS DURING NIGHT

George Lansbury, Labor leader, He told them he would try to present their petition to Commons and urge that their delegation be received before the bar, failing which he would do his utmost to arrange a meeting with the cabinet.

The rioting centered in the mile area from Trafalgar square to the House of Commons on the banks of the Thames, along Whitehall and to Hyde Park.

Mobs of several thousand which had gathered on the south side of the Thames were dispersed before 11 p. m. Authorities admitted that for two hours the situation was the most serious since the general strike of 1926, and that only the most energetic police action prevented major conflicts.

The streets where the trouble occurred were littered tonight with hats, caps, canes and sticks which the demonstrators dropped when they fled from the police charges. Fifteen were treated for minor injuries in Charing Cross hospital. Scotland Yard announced that "many arrests were made."

Many windows were smashed during the night, including even some in the Strand, which almost corresponds to New York's Broadway. Windows were smashed in the Charing Cross postoffice. In the nerve center of London, and in Cockspur street, in South London, store windows were broken open and clothing and other articles stolen. Police detachments were concentrated there to prevent extensive looting.

During the height of the excitement, the gates of the Admiralty Arch, leading toward Buckingham Palace, were closed to prevent any possible attack on the home of the royal family. The gates, traditionally always open, were closed similarly during last Sunday's rioting.

Several thousand demonstrators from Peckham and Deptford, singing the "Marseillaise," marched by the castle shortly after 8 p. m. and surged toward the square. The police, in a solid blue line, shoulder to shoulder, pushed the crowd foot by foot down Whitehall from parliament square into Trafalgar square, where the latter trouble started.

The retreating mob caused a minor disturbance at the cenotaph, Britain's monument to the war dead in Whitehall. Some of the crowd resisted the pushing, of the police and the latter drew their batons, clubbing all within reach. The wreath at the foot of the cenotaph, dedicated to the slain, was trampled in the melee.

The original leader of the hunger marchers, W. A. L. Hannington, was held without bail today on a charge of inciting mutiny among the police. Sam Langley, another leader, was held on bail for a month, charged with inciting the populace to disturb the peace.

HOOVER SPEAKS TONIGHT FOR PACIFIC COAST

His speeches for the week end mid-western drive. He spent most of yesterday in the Lincoln study and expected to remain away from the executive offices much of the time until he departs. The departure probably will be around 5 p. m. tomorrow.

Mrs. Hoover, as usual, will accompany him. Newton will go as far as Minnesota, his home state, where he expects to make "a speech or two," remaining there even if Mr. Hoover goes on west.

Tonight, the president at 11:15 p. m. E.S.T., will deliver a brief message of greeting to Californians over long distance telephone, as part of the celebration of "California day." He may say then whether he will go home to vote or not.

Westminster To Have Drug Store

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 2.—Westminster, which for the past three weeks has been without a drug store, is to soon have another resident druggist, J. E. Ostot, at present employed by a Santa Ana drug company.

Will Rogers Says—

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—(To the Editor of The Register:) There should be a moratorium called on candidates' speeches. They have been called each other everything in the world they can think of. From now on they are just talking themselves out of votes. The high office of President of the United States has degenerated into two ordinary fine men being goaded on by their political leeches into saying things that if they were in their right minds they wouldn't think of saying. Imagine Mr. Hoover last night, "any change of policies will bring disaster to every fireside in America." Of all the conceit. This country is a thousand times bigger than any two men in it, or any two parties in it. These big politicians are so serious about themselves and their parties. This country has gotten where it is in spite of politics, not by the aid of it. That we have carried as much political bunk as we have and still survived shows we are a super nation. If by some divine act of Providence we could get rid of both these parties and hired some good man, like any other big business does, why that would be sitting pretty. This calamity was brought on by the actions of the people of the whole world, and not by a Republican or a Democrat. So you two boys just get the weight of the world off your shoulders and go fishing. Both of you claim you like to fish, now instead of calling each other names till next Tuesday, why you can do everybody a big favor by going fishing, and you will be surprised but the old U. S. will keep right on running, and you boys are sitting on the bank. Then come back next Wednesday and we will let you know which one is the lesser of the two evils of you.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

BUSINESS IN RENO BOOMS AS 12 BANKS IN STATE GO ON TWO WEEKS "HOLIDAY"

The First National was the only bank in the city to remain open. It stacked up $5,000,000 in cash. "Come and get it," invited President Richard Kinnan.

"Come again tomorrow," he urged at closing time.

Others, whose quiet withdrawals in recent weeks was in part responsible for the "moratorium," also found themselves with cash in their pockets, or hidden in their sugar bowls.

The gambling halls had their thousands of dollars kept ever ready to pay off winning streaks. There was at least $17,000,000 in the closed banks. But locked up $3,000,000 more in the First National, and thousands on thousands in pockets of citizens.

All the cash, so suddenly released from strongholds, began to rush into circulation.

Police Chief J. M. Kirkley feared alert footpads, armed with lengths of rubber hose filled with birdshot would join the "holiday." He urged citizens to leave their cash in the station safe. Thousands of dollars were "on deposit" there today.

One "holiday victim" was Delbert Hammond, who recently sold his little business—a cozy saloon—for $7000.

Today he still had the $7000, but it was locked up in the Reno National, one of the "holiday banks," and Hammond was eating his meals on credit.

"It's life," philosophized Hammond. "Twenty years ago when I was a Tonopah gambler I belonged to the Elks club."

"George Wingfield is the only one who still has his fortune—and George's 12 banks are closed."

Ed Voeltli, hotel operator, is due for a shock. Ed's son, Reno Voeltli, is finishing a course in international law at the University of Rome and Ed's over visiting him. Phil Curti, Voeltli's partner, deposited $2700 for Ed the other day. Ed's writing checks on it—and it's in the Reno National.

Closing of the banks was a left-handed victory for law and order when some $15,000 in election bets were cancelled.

Betting is the only form of gambling against the law in Nevada. Unable to pay off, due to their funds being on "holiday," the wagers called off their agreements.

Due to the tremendous amount of cash in circulation, Reno residents probably will pull through the period of the moratorium without suffering for lack of money.

sets and Maine. But, notably at Providence, R. I., were approximately 40,000 citizens gathered in the light rain, lining the sidewalks and jamming themselves into doorways and beneath awnings. He was able to extend his "best wishes" to the crowds through a microphone thrust into his hands.

A driving rain struck the candidate's party when it reached Worcester, Mass., but several thousand persons, who had waited two hours beneath umbrellas to see him, defied the elements to receive his greeting.

The skies cleared after the party reached Brookfield, near Springfield, for the first halt for food—sandwiches and coffee—that had been ordered in advance. Then the governor swung southward towards Hartford, Conn., stopping a brief moment to wave to 2000 at Springfield.

Mayor William J. Rankin of Hartford met the governor at the city lines, and escorted the party through the streets, which were lined with citizens to whom the candidate waved, leaving the city without a set speech.

Tomorrow, the governor will make three speeches, two in Newark and Jersey City, and the third in the Metropolitan opera house, New York. He will conclude his campaign with an address at Madison Square Garden Saturday.

Thirty-three American sound films were shown in Czechoslovakia in the first half of this year.

One Sure Way to End Coughs and Colds

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

SENATOR GLASS AND MILLS IN HEATED DEBATE

Senator Glass, co-author of the federal reserve act and secretary of treasury under Woodrow Wilson, opened his attack with an accusation that President Hoover had made campaign statements "flagrantly contrary to the facts that he might magnify his own alleged achievements in correcting situation and saving the country."

He sharply criticized economic and financial policies of recent Republican administrations, denied the gold standard was at one time seriously endangered as the president asserted in his Des Moines speech and defended the congressional record of Democrats on unemployment relief and financial legislation.

The treasury secretary denied Glass' charge that funds of the reconstruction finance corporation had been used for political purposes, charged that most "unsound legislation" introduced in the last session of congress had Democratic origin and accused Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of keeping silent on the question of currency inflation.

Glass declared the president was "guilty" of indifference to the facts or indifference to the truth. In his statement that at one time this year the country was nearly forced from the gold standard.

President Hoover's early efforts to check the depression Glass referred to as "psychological politics." Later administration proposals had to have their "viciousness" removed by Democratic and Progressive Republican senators, Glass said.

Answering Republican attacks on the Democratic house, Glass said "We had from the administration at the last session of congress inflationary proposals that would have rocked the foundations of our banking system." He said the support of 60 house Republicans made possible passage of the Soldiers' Bonus bill, and that Democratic voters in the senate brought about its defeat.

The bonus issue, he declared was a legacy of sordid Republican politics from previous congress when veterans' legislation was passed.

Secretary Mills, replying to Glass' statements said there was no authority under the law for a president to advise the public when to buy or sell stock, or for the chief executive to pass on the soundness of bonds offered for sale, and denied that the state department had encouraged flotation of foreign bonds here.

He quoted Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes as saying when Secretary of State that the department was "not responsible for loans for business purposes to foreign nations." The department has adhered to this policy, Mills said.

But for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, thousands of the banking system of the country would have collapsed, the secretary said. He answered Glass' charge of "political loans" by referring to the fact a majority of the board of directors are Democrats.

President Hoover, he said obtained "more constructive legislation than any other president" in one session. The soldiers' bonus bill was supported 3 to 1 by Democratic members of the house, declared Mills, accusing Speaker Garner of favoring "turning on the printing presses."

of the slain Barker. Sam Alex, labor racketeer. And Joseph Marino, William O'Brien and William Martin, their bodyguards.

In the second raid police seized Sam (Golfbag Sammie) Hunt, Capone gunman who introduced the custom of carrying a machine gun in a golf bag; Tony Accardo, former Capone body guard and partner of Jack (Machine Gun Jack) McGurn; and Rocco De Grazio, Capone lieutenant in the Melrose Park district, and four minor gangsters.

Once police had herded their collection of gang luminaries to headquarters they were somewhat at a loss as to what to do with them. There were no immediate charges placed against the men but Chief of Detectives William Shoemaker had high hopes he would be able to find witnesses against the gangsters before attorneys obtained their release by habeas corpus action.

Police believed the Lasalle street raid had uncovered the racket headquarters of Cook county. From this suite which overlooks the city's financial district, they believe, the extensive rackets that take so heavy a toll of business have been directed. The suite is in the same building as the offices of the Association of Commerce, operators of the famed "secret six."

AUTHORIZES ROAD TO ASK FOR LOAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(UP)—The interstate commerce commission today authorized the New York Central railroad to borrow $25,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to repair equipment and provide employment for about 1500 men this winter.

SAM COLLINS' RECORD CITED IN RADIO TALK

In a program featured by the Orange county Kill Willies, the candidacy of Sam Collins for the Republican congressional toga was furthered over KREG last night. The program was sponsored by friends of the district attorney, who is the Republican nominee for congress from the 19th district. The principal speaker over the program was Judge James B. Tucker, member of the law firm of Drumm, Tucker, Martel and Drumm.

Judge Tucker called attention to the fact that Collins has been a resident of the district he aspires to represent in congress, for a period of 29 years. He attended the grammar schools of Riverside and subsequently was graduated from the San Bernardino county high school.

"As district attorney, Mr. Collins has made an unusually fine record," declared Judge Tucker. "It was this enviable achievement that was largely responsible for his splendid victory in the recent primaries, the voters of Riverside, San Bernardino and Orange counties seemingly having taken pride in nominating a man in whom they have full confidence and pride of achievement."

Judge Tucker emphasized the unreserved endorsement given him by Phil Swing, co-author of the Swing-Johnson bill, which made possible the great Boulder dam project.

"In fact, Swing declares Collins has the two essential requisites for a good congressman: youth and intelligence. He has those rare qualities of intelligent foresight that will give the 19th district the proper representation that it is entitled to. Make no mistake next Tuesday but make your vote count by voting for Collins," Judge Tucker declared.

PROGRAM FOR TRIO CONCERT IS ANNOUNCED

Announcement of the program to be presented by the Santa Ana String Trio and Madame Maria Caselotti, coloratura soprano, at Ebell clubhouse at 8:15 p. m. tomorrow was made today by officers of the Phi Zeta Music society under whose auspices the concert is being offered. The musicale is open to the public at a small charge.

Concert choices, which have been weeks in rehearsal by the string trio, composed of Georgia Belle Walton, violinist, Ruth Armstrong, pianist, and Edward H. Burns, cellist, promise a program of lively contrast, the new and the familiar being combined in five trio groups. Such composers as Beethoven, Kreisler, Bach, Debussy and Cyril Scott are represented among the latter selections. Among more pretentious trio numbers will be "Molto allegro ed agitato," Trio No. 1 (Mendelssohn, Op. 49) while an "Arabesque" by Debussy and a Boat Song and Folk Dance by Cyril Scott promise popular appeal.

Madame Caselotti, whose accompanist will be Guido Caselotti, opera coach, will sing, among other operatic arias, "Baci La Bianca" from Donizetti's opera, "Lucia di Lammermoor."

The complete program follows: "O Sanctissima" (Corelli); "Andante" (Beethoven), arr. Fritz Kreisler, "Bourne" (Bach) by the Trio.

"Bonjour Ma Belle" (Behrmd); "Mocking Bird" (Bishop); "Baci La Bianca" from Opera Lu-

DECLARES LITTLE REQUIRED TO TIP CIVILIZATION OF THE WORLD INTO REVOLUTION

Sounding an ominous note, and declaring that "the whole of civilization is in the balance, and it wouldn't take much to tip it into revolution in most parts of the world, with the mass of the people feeling so restless," Dr. Gordon S. Watkins, professor of economics at the University of California of Los Angeles, and author of many books on labor and economic problems, spoke last night at the Fullerton International Relations council meeting on "The Economics Problems of Peace."

The speaker prefaced his remarks with a statement that since religion has failed to solve the problems of war, it has fundamentally resolved itself into an economic problem, unless economic problems can be "reignited," and that the causes of peace must be solved, if civilization is to stand.

He declared economists told the world that the reparations and indemnity plans would not function, that Germany finding herself faced with the tremendous problems of paying a $3 billion dollar debt was overwhelmed, since other nations demanded gold payment at the rate of $10 million dollars a year.

It simply can't be done, because Germany doesn't have that much to pass out, and other nations refused to take her goods," he declared.

Outlines Causes of Unrest

The reparations and indemnity plan, following the World war, with the exclusion programs of nations, setting up bars against infiltration of nationals of other countries in a discriminatory manner, the mortgaging of the economic future of Europe during the World war, that is calling for United States to keep loaning money for the nations to pay back, and the cry for cancellation; the protective tariff, which United States has set as an example, and that caused others to build protective tariff and the private capital invested in other countries, which investment means the army and navy must be called on to enlarge itself to protect that property, are all causes of the present cataclysmic conditions, Dr. Watkins declared.

He said ideas rule the world, and at present the ideas are throwing the world into chaos. Russia, under communism, ostensibly believing in peace, preparing for war; Italy, under fascism, believing in the virtue of war, in the sword and not the plow, in autocracy, and not democracy, are threatening, and the runnings in the eastern countries, China, Japan and India, all indicate that United States must not lose her idealism, that she will have to revise her capitalistic system, and must gain a world vision, and assume her place in world leadership and domination, for the center of power and of civilization has moved westward, and abides here, he declared.

United States must arouse itself from self-centeredness, must gain a world perspective, and take a soul vision for peace and against war, he declared, if this restlessness is to settle into a government of peace for all the world.

Dean W. T. Boyce, of Fullerton junior college, presiding, called attention to the need of getting the peoples of the nations to think peace, and urged more to attend the International relations meetings, and to get the psychology of the great cause.

Sweden and Liquor

The council also heard Harold E. Walberg, instructor of music in the Fullerton union high school and district junior college, tell of his impression of the northern countries of Europe, where he visited this summer. The speaker visited his parents in Sweden, and declared that, all advice to the contrary, Sweden is not solving that liquor problem with the issuing of tickets for drinks, for so long as there is cash, there is drink, and the drinks just walk it off.

He outlined the impression he had of the people of Sweden as having "time" to do the courteous things, and of not being rushed so much as Americans.

He said further that he found American schools have larger and finer buildings, and more entertainment, while they present less thought-provoking material, in the estimation of the people of that country, and that the people of his native land think of Americans as a careless people.

Mrs. Frances Davis told of the Marathon Round Table of peace discussion, the final meeting of which is to be at the home of Mrs. Antoinette Nemo, Pomona avenue, Fullerton, at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

S. W. McCulloch announced the Kiwanis play, to be given at the high school auditorium November 10, as taking the place of the play usually sponsored by the International Relations council and with the president urged members of the council to support it and to sell tickets, since it has a theme of peace.

Chief Examiner Dishman for the State Corporation Commissioner was in Santa Ana yesterday conferring with Assistant District Attorney S. R. Kaufman in connection with a recently launched criminal investigation of the leasing of a portion of the Huntington Beach streets for oil drilling.

The Corporation Commissioner has ordered a criminal investigation of the recently signed lease between the City of Huntington Beach and the Carr Oil company whereby the Carr Oil company would be permitted to prospect for oil on Ocean avenue between Seventeenth street and the northwestern city limits. The investigation also will include the proposal to lease beach lands to the Pacific Exploration company for drilling purposes.

The leasing of the city street for oil drilling was temporarily halted recently when Superior Judge G. K. Scovel issued a temporary and immediate restraining order in favor of A. D. Marshall, seeking, as a taxpayer, to set aside the lease on the grounds that the street was deeded to the city by the Huntington Beach company, "for street purposes only."

YORBA LINDANS TOLD TAX STAND OF LEROY LYON

YORBA LINDA, Nov. 2.—Leroy Lyon, candidate for supervisor of the third district, reiterated his stand on the issues he has been presenting, and declared that in spite of statements to the effect, that a road, built to private property off North street, was reputedly built as a road to serve the dyke of the river during times of danger, as reported by a paper supporting his rival, the premise is ridiculous, considering the road lacks several hundred feet of extending to the dyke, and is under water in flood season.

He also reiterated his stand on tax reduction, and told Yorba Linda questioners that when they received much more than their share of road funds for development, another district was being robbed.

When another questioner asked him what was to be done concerning the balance of the money due on street improvement in Yorba Linda if Lyon was elected, the answer came from the audience, "the question is already solved; we got the tax bill this year, in spite of promises."

Lyon has taken the firm stand that the money for Yorba Linda improvements, more than $90,000, was promised by the incumbent and was being paid out of gas tax money belonging to other sections of the district.

W. J. Carmichael, chairman of the meeting, said extraordinary happenings occurred when he was running in the primaries as concerns newspapers of the district, and proving there is a strong political machine.

He declared that C. C. Chapman wrote a letter recommending him, Carmichael, which he took to the Fullerton News-Tribune for publication. He said so far as he knows, nobody knew of the letter except the Tribune staff, himself and Chapman, but that the day for publication, Chapman called up, told him, Carmichael, pressure had been brought to bear from San Bernardino and Riverside, and from Shortridge campaign headquarters, that the letter must be called off, or else Sam Collins, then running for a place on the November ballot as congressman, would be defeated.

After Lyon had answered why "No entangling alliances" is on his signboards, saying it means he is controlled by no group of men. Herb Oelke, who was also a defeated candidate for supervisor, said: "We have been accused of slinging mud; if truth and facts are mud slinging, why they are going to get some more of it." He said further, that the Anaheim paper had been slinging mud higher than any year previous in a campaign.

Oelke further declared that he has proof that William Schumacher, the incumbent, is forcing, in so far as he can, employees of the county to vote for him and to secure votes for him.

Again urging Schumacher to come out in meeting and discuss the issues, Lyon announced a meeting tonight at Brea American Legion hall.

Oelke further declared that he has proof that William Schumacher, the incumbent, is forcing, in so far as he can, employees of the county to vote for him and to secure votes for him.

Cross-Blending

WHAT IS IT . . . and how does it improve cigarette taste?

YOU'VE heard how fruit of one variety has been crossed with fruit of another to produce a new and more pleasing flavor. The loganberry, for example, is a cross between the raspberry and the blackberry.

Chesterfield's Cross-Blend gets the same result—better taste—by a different method.

It welds together the different kinds of several varieties of tobacco. Many types of Bright tobacco, a great many types of Burley tobacco, and numerous grades of Turkish tobacco are all merged into one—Chesterfield tobacco.

This welding or Cross-Blending goes beyond ordinary blending or mixing tobaccos together. It actually makes every kind of tobacco in Chesterfield partake of the qualities of every other type.

It's the Cross-Blending of fine Turkish and Domestic tobaccos that gives Chesterfields a distinctive, better taste.

They are milder. They have a flavor and aroma which, we believe, you will like.

WOODS HOLMES' S. A. GOLF RULE

East Eagerly Awaits St. Mary's Juggernaut

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

It hasn't been two years since Tommy Loughran fought Max Baer in New York, and on the same card the obscure Stanley Porecki boxed a fellow named Walter Cobb in one of the preliminaries.

New Porecki, stepping up gradually to top-ranking among the heavyweights, brushes Loughran aside with a decisive victory in ten rounds in Loughran's home town.

All that goes up in boxing, must come down. Gene Tunney fought a preliminary bout to the Dempsey-Carpenter Battle of the Century at Boyle's Thirty Acres. A couple of years later he cut Dempsey to ribbons in Philadelphia.

HE WANTED TUNNEY

It was Loughran's dream to fight Gene Tunney. He declared Tunney was a "mechanical fighter" and that was the kind of a fighter easiest for him to beat.

Oh, yes, there was something else about the pair, too. Loughran and Tunney met in an eight-round bout something like ten years ago. Loughran was not more than a middleweight then, but he gave Gene as good as he sent. Tunney did floor him in the first round with a terrific right hand, but Loughran came back to outwit him.

RETORT COURTEOUS

Years later, when Tunney was training at Speculator, N. Y., for his final fight with Tom Heeney—Loughran had hand-picked Porecki to watch him train. The night before, Loughran had fought Pete Latzo, and the boy from the mines had opened up a nasty cut over Tommy's eye.

Tunney peered critically at Loughran's eye as the two shook hands. Then said Gene, rather crisply: "You know, Tom, for a man who's supposed to be as clever as you are, you get cut up quite a lot."

Tom reddened and replied: "If you defended your championship as much as I do mine, you'd probably get cut up too!" Which was giving James Joseph just about as good as he sent, in consideration of the fact that Tunney had hand-picked Porecki to watch him train.

HE FOUGHT 'EM ALL

Loughran, indeed, was a fighting champion. He broke all the union rules of the Cauliflower Guild by fighting anyone who came along. He has met the toughest men in his division, and has gone out of his way to take on heavier, and ostensibly tougher ones.

From 1925 until 1929 he was unbeatable. From the time that a battler named Ad Stone took a close decision from him in 1925, until after he beat Mickey Walker, he fought 36 opponents, and licked every one.

Many of these were formidable foes—Mickey Walker, Johnny Risko, Mike McTigue, Willie Strubling, Leo Lomski, Big Boy Peterson, Jack Gross, Georges Carpentier, Pete Latzo, Armand Emmanuel, Marty Burke. In that group are boxers, hard punchers, rugged heavyweights.

THE LOMSKI CLASSIC

The picture we like to keep of Loughran is that of his wonderful comeback against Leo Lomski several years ago. The Aberdeen Assassin floored him for a count of nine three times in the first round. The third time that Lomski's swishing right connected, Loughran went sprawling, almost turning a somersault through the ropes.

For two rounds after that Loughran actually was out on his feet. A ringside newspaperman said, "He's fighting from memory now." But the old skill remained, and that lightning-like Loughran left darted into Lomski's face with destructive regularity during the rest of the 15-round battle.

At the end Lomski was done up. Loughran had overcome the tremendous disadvantage of that first round, and fought his way back to victory.

CONCEDE GAELS EDGE ON RAMS IN N. Y. GAME

BY JACK CUDDY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—(UP)—

The East will get its first seasonal taste of Pacific Coast football Saturday when "Grip" Madigan's Gallipoli Gaels, gambol with Fordham's Rams on the Polo Grounds greenward.

This first taste is likely to be rather bitter, according to Major Frank Cavanaugh, chief herder of the Rams, who admitted, "We don't expect to beat St. Mary's."

Fordham's veteran coach, not quite recovered from the team's unexpected beating by Boston college last week, the second in succession, was not enthusiastic over the Gaels' chances.

Cavanaugh and his assistants are shaking the squad up, trying new formations and trying to boot the Rams into a fighting aggregation by Saturday because a victory over the highly-touted outfit from Moraga would redeem the two recent defeats.

A loss would be doubly humiliating because Madigan, former Notre Dame star, is regarded as a probable successor to Cavanaugh next year, when the major is almost certain to be retired because of ill health.

On paper, St. Mary's should have a walk-away. It's a typical coast team—big, powerful and fast. It averages about five pounds heavier than the Rams. Its playing record is far superior.

The Gaels haven't been defeated this season. California held them to a 12-12 tie, but their victims included San Francisco and Santa Clara. San Francisco humbled Loyola, the team that held Southern California 6-0, and Santa Clara beat California, 12-0.

Reliable reports from the coast indicate St. Mary's is a strong candidate for National honors. Fordham started the season like a champion, rolling up big scores over Baltimore, Lebanon Valley and Bucknell. But Michigan State downed the Maroons, 19-13, and they lost to comparatively weak Boston college, 3-0.

GAELS HOLD WORKOUT AT SOLDIER FIELD
CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—(UP)—Coach "Grip" Madigan and his St. Mary's football team stopped off in Chicago today for their last strenuous workout before they meet Fordham Saturday.

Minus two of their stars, Wayne Pendleton, guard, and Charles Baird, halfback, the Californians went to Soldier field immediately after their arrival for an hour-and-a-half practice before a packed crowd of spectators.

Pendleton was left on the train, suffering from an attack of the influenza and Madigan said he would not be able to play Saturday. Baird, a triple threat man who had been counted on to carry much of the burden against Fordham, had a bad leg and Madigan was doubtful whether he would get in the lineup.

There were 65 players and 65 rooters in the squad making the long trip across the continent. Carl Jorgensen, tackle, is making his first trip back to New York in 10 years, when he first saw the city from Ellis island, a immigrant from Denmark.

Coach Madigan said he was "not interested" when queried on rumors linking him with Fordham as successor to Cavanaugh.

Members of 14 gun clubs in the southwestern part of Orange county got their limit of ducks in 20 minutes today, it was revealed in a checkup. The season opened officially Monday noon.

Two new clubs are in operation this season, one being composed of Richfield Oil company employees and the other operated by J. Wilson, of Los Angeles.

The other 12 clubs are the Blue Wing, Westminster, Blue Bill, Seaside, Los Patos, Sunset, California, West Shore, Canadore, Center, Lomita and the Boisa Chica. The clubs are located in the district between Wintersburg and Huntington Beach.

The Richfield and the Wilson clubs are "dry land" organizations, neither being equipped with ponds.

Julia Lathrop junior high school's Class D football team played a 6-6 tie with Huntington Beach's 6-6 Class D eleven yesterday. Gene Miller made the touchdown for Coach Merle Ewell's men, going over on a cutback from the 10-yard line in the third quarter.

Lathrop's lineup: McCullah, lg; Robertson, lt; Pagenkopp, rg; League, rt; Morton, rg; Henderson, rt; Goodman, re; Miller, q; Eastham, lb; Rose, rb; Musick, f.

The Spartans' Class C squad plays at Fullerton tomorrow.

IOWA CITY, Ia.—Coach Ossie Sisk today was engaged in the task of thwarting the powerful passing attack of the Michigan Wolverines, it was indicated today. Coach Hayes yesterday sent his first string team against a freshman eleven in a scrimmage during which the aerial attack predominated.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—Indiana will exhibit a variety of passes Saturday in a counter-offensive designed to thwart the powerful passing attack of the Michigan Wolverines, it was indicated today. Coach Hayes yesterday sent his first string team against a freshman eleven in a scrimmage during which the aerial attack predominated.

Saints Face Peppers In Scrimmage

Beginning seriously their large task of preparing for the Alhambra game Armistice Day, most important of the Coast league prep season, Santa Ana Hi's undefeated football squad will scrimmage at Poly field tomorrow with Johnny Ward's Garden Grove Peppers, strong Orange league contender.

Because both teams have crucial conflicts ahead, Garden Grove meeting Anaheim November 18 in an Orange league showdown, the practice engagement will be semi-private, admission being obtainable by pass only.

After Monday's idleness, the Saints went through a leisurely drill Tuesday with the first string lining up as it started at San Diego except at right end where Don McLaughlin, latest Saint "find," was definitely established.

Second string teams have crucial conflicts ahead, Garden Grove meeting Anaheim November 18 in an Orange league showdown, the practice engagement will be semi-private, admission being obtainable by pass only.

CAN HE REPLACE MOHLER?

The answer to the question, "Where's Southern California going without Mohler?" may be answered in person by the blond young man below who looks as if he were headed some place. He is Irvine Warburton, who takes Mohler's place as quarterback for the Trojans. "Pop" Warner, Stanford coach, who saw a lot of Warburton in the 13-0 defeat of his team by Southern Cal, says that "Cotton" is the best open field runner he has seen this year.

Here and There in Local Sport

NOVEMBER POOR GRID MONTH
October isn't a bad football month but it is generally considered too early in the season for the public's appetite to be properly whetted.

For most football month, therefore, is November, the period when school teams arrange their most attractive home games.

November hasn't treated Santa Ana well this year. The high school plays but three games, only one here. The junior college has three, too, and likewise only one at home.

Worse yet, the Saints' lone local appearance will be against Fullerton, in reality a non-conference rivalry. Chaffey, strong adversary, will play the Dons at Poly field.

SAINT PROSPECTS BRIGHT
Santa Ana Hi's potent line hasn't yielded more than one touchdown to any opponent since 1920. It will get its supreme test Armistice day at Alhambra.

Against the Saints' surprising forwards, Coach George Hobbs of the Moors that day throws a pack fully as large, even more experienced.

Nevertheless, Santa Ana will be the favorite. The Saints were more impressive against San Diego than Alhambra and statistics indicate they had more punch than Alhambra against Long Beach; and yet the whole world must know by now that Santa Ana wasn't much the day of the Long Beach game.

Even so, the Saints scored 12 first downs to Long Beach's 2, Long Beach made 6 first downs to Alhambra's 3, lost 15-0, because Alhambra blocked 5 kicks, recovered 5 Long Beach fumbles.

The real reason why Santa Ana will be favored is "Tex" Oliver. This young coach wins games on the field as well as on paper. It is a football tragedy that he is not given opportunity to employ his talent at some major university, as much as this would be Santa Ana's loss.

S. A. VS. ANAHEIM?
If Santa Ana wins from Alhambra and Glendale, thereby qualifying for a chance at another Southern California prep championship, first Saint opponent might be the Orange League's Anaheim, yet to yield a point to conference competition.

Anaheim would be a capital Saint opponent, would draw heavily at Poly field.

Santa Ana and Anaheim have been rivals of night baseball so long that fans in both cities call each other by their first names. Anaheim supports its teams heart and soul. So does Santa Ana.

The Saints might be too strong

DONS, CHAFFEY TO PLAY HERE ARMISTICE DAY

There will be football in Santa Ana on Armistice Day, one week from Friday.

Santa Ana and Chaffey junior colleges, originally slated to enter their fifth Orange Empire conference struggle on Saturday, November 12, will clash a day earlier, Coach Bill Cook of the Dons announced today.

Coach "Tex" Oliver's high school squad will be playing at Alhambra, so the Santa Ana-Chaffey affair will be the only contest in the county, with the exception of a game between Fullerton and Santa Barbara at Fullerton.

On account of the U. S. C.-California varsity game at Olympic stadium this Saturday, it was thought that the Santa Ana-Chaffey game would be played at Azusa Friday, but Cook states that the date will not be changed unless Coach Al Cuyes of Citrus requests such an arrangement.

Personally, the Don mentor is satisfied with the Saturday afternoon date.

Three Santa Ana regulars—Fred Bell, halfback; Harold Welty, quarter and full; and Charles Bowden, quarter—have been unable to practice this week.

Bell has an injured shoulder. Welty two bad ankles, and Bowden a case of the flu. LeRoy DeSmet, guard, also is out with a severe charley-horse, Fred Brooks, end; Claude Williams, guard; and Dick Malone, end, were not in suit yesterday. Dick Smith, tackle, who received a body injury at Riverside, was in suit, but only for a light workout.

The Dons scrimmaged among themselves in drill yesterday, and worked out in a regular game, with "Porky" Bell the referee, Coach Cook and the "inspector," Lash and Greenow, ends; Hollen and Koral, tackles; Yould and Benton, guards; and Hoar, center, composed a line first going on defense, Bergsetter alternated with Hoar at center. Behind this line was a backfield combination of McDaniels, quarter; Haupt and Campbell, halfbacks; and Daneri, full.

In the other combination, which went somewhat better on offense, were Carlyle and Harris, ends; Fredericks and Heffern, guards; Kluthe and Olson, guards; Handy, center, and a backfield of Bouldin, quarter; Higashi and Jung-kaid, halfbacks, and Smith, full. Conkey, regular tackle, worked out with this group.

McDaniels on the one team and Bouldin on the other broke loose for several good gains, and showed a good selection of plays. Camp-bell also went well. Greenow and Koral were the defensive stars of the first group; Harris, Fred-Benson, guard, smeared several plays.

Tom Hollen, 220-pound transfer from Los Angeles junior college, wants to learn the right guard position of Cook remade. Fredericks played on the line in yesterday's drill. Now a tackle, Hollen has had experience at center and fullback in the high school, and may be shifted to a new position this week.

League President ACCUSED BY UMPIRE

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 2.—(UP)—A minor league baseball scandal was brewing here today as an outcome of a $25,000 damage suit brought against T. J. Hickey, American association president, by J. A. Murray, former association umpire.

Murray charged in a preliminary hearing yesterday that Hickey told him late in the 1925 season that he wanted to be sure Kansas City won a game from St. Paul. This charge was not made in Murray's original complaint which alleges that Hickey used his influence to have him barred from baseball.

Hearing of the case in circuit court was set for November 28.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—(UP)—President Hickey of the American association said today that J. A. Murray's charges against him were "so ridiculous I cannot even countenance recognizing them."

Hickey said he had released Murray because the umpire's eyes went bad on him.

HOLMES' LONG REIGN ENDS

Holmes' consistency was almost unbelievable. Although a good shotmaker, he did not really outclass his fellow golfers. Half a dozen were as efficient at medal play. Holmes beat them in tournaments because he was a better competitor.

Church League Leaders In Crucial Match

M. E. South and the First Christians, undefeated leaders of the Santa Ana Church Basketball league, collide at the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 8 o'clock in a game that probably will determine the first half champion of a split season.

Originally arranged for Friday, the contest was moved ahead so as not to conflict with church programs. It will take the place on the league schedule of the First Baptist-First Methodist set-to, which will be played Friday.

The end came on the eighteenth green when Bemis sunk a twisting eight-foot putt for a birdie four on the 47th yard hole and Holmes missed a two-footer for a birdie.

Bemis mediated 77, Holmes 75. Holmes defended his off-won championship desperately. Two down after 9 holes because of Bemis' superlative golf, and three down after losing the long 11th, Holmes settled down and won the next four holes to take the lead on the 15th.

Bemis came back to take No. 16 with a par four. They halved the short 17th in par three and went to the last tee all squares.

Holmes hoisted his third within two feet of the pin. Bemis pitched within eight feet of the flag. Bemis sunk his long putt for a birdie. The champion missed on the same carpet where last year, under similar conditions, he sunk a 20-foot putt to square a match eventually won in 20 holes.

DAVIS CUP PLAYING RULES UNCHANGED

PARIS, Nov. 2.—(UP)—Great Britain today filed entry for the 1932 Davis Cup championship, becoming the first and only nation to enter the tournament except for the five teams listed for South American zone play.

Davis Cup officials predicted the depression may reduce the field before entries close Jan. 31.

The international federation declared nothing would be done this year to change the rules and hold the cup matches every two or three years instead of annually.

Several of the nations farthest from Paris or New York complained that the cost of preparing and sending a team was too great to continue annual competition.

France's plans are completed. The draw for the Americas and European zones will be held early in February and elimination play will begin in May, with the finals the last week in July.

WILLARD IN RALLY, BEATS ORANGE. 13-6

BY LEONARD MAURER
Coming from behind in the second half after trailing for two quarters, Frances Willard junior high school's football team defeated Orange Hi's Class A squad, 13-6, yesterday.

Davenport's 90-yard run with a forward pass tied the score in the third period and Willard took a 7-6 lead when Erwin Yowell caught a pass for the extra point. A series of end runs took the Indians to Orange's 15-yard line later in the game and Ralph Blower plunged through the center for the touchdown.

Outstanding Willard players were Davenport, Beard and Clark. The lineup: Clark, lg; Beard, lg; Arbuckle, lg; Wall, c; Crowther, rg; Stump, rt; Opp, re; Wilde, q; Davenport, lb; Yowell, rh, and Blower, f.

ELDER HERE ON WAY TO SAN DIEGO RACE

"Sprouts" Elder, world's short-track motorcycle racing champion, passed through Santa Ana today en route to San Diego where he rides tonight.

He returns to Santa Ana Friday night to compete in the short track championship events to be held at the Bowl.

Elder carries his three expensive English Rudge racing motorcycles on an elaborate trailer behind his powerful roadster. He has completely recovered from the illness that prevented him from competing in Southern California for the past four weeks. He feels confident of establishing a new record at the Bowl as the former record he made here on his first appearance was lowered by "Bo" Lisman two weeks ago.

POLITICS TO BOIL AT CLUB MEETING

Not exactly the "battle of the century," but certainly a memorable event is promised by the Toastmasters club for its meeting this evening, when the lid of the political caldron will be completely removed, permitting its contents to boil over freely in a debate which is to involve the highest-powered orators of the organization in a discussion of present issues, according to D. H. Tibbels, secretary.

Walter Sorenson will undertake to maintain peace and order, as toastmaster of the evening. The question for debate is: "Resolved, That the Republican party should be returned to power on the merits of its accomplishments." The affirmative will be argued by William Iverson and a carefully selected list of speakers who will be located to the guards with statistics and facts and theories to support their contention.

Dr. C. J. Ruley and a strong aggregation of Democratic talent will oppose Iverson's arguments, and will undertake to demolish the Republican position with all their forces. The debate promises to bring out information never before presented before any audience.

The Toastmasters club of the Y. M. C. A. meets every Wednesday evening at 6:15 o'clock, at Ketter's cafe, for practice in public speaking. A. G. Green is president of the organization.

Declares Husband Took Baby Away; Seeks Divorce

Claiming that her husband told her that she did not know how to care for a baby and later took it to the Los Angeles county hospital, and that he also informed her that he did not love her, Mrs. Emeline H. Jones has filed suit in superior court for a divorce from Bud A. Jones.

In her complaint Mrs. Jones declared that she does not ask for custody of her child because she has no money with which to support it but hopes that her husband will care for it properly. The child is a 15-month-old boy.

According to Mrs. Jones' complaint her husband told her while living in Los Angeles that he no longer loved her and urged her to visit friends in Newport Beach until he made up his mind whether or not they should be divorced. Later she went to the home of her parents in Santa Ana where her husband visited her and urged her to return to him. It was after the reconciliation, she alleges, that her husband took the child to the hospital in Los Angeles.

LONGFELLOWS OF JAYSEE TO GIVE PROGRAM

With a presentation of the Longfellows club in a half hour radio program, the Santa Ana Junior college will go on the air from KREG with an afternoon series radio program tomorrow at 4:50 o'clock.

The club is one of the best campus clubs to the general public from stunts that they have put on in the annual Halloween and Armistice day parades, and for their annual appeal to the Santa Ana city council for enforcement of the awning ordinance.

Tomorrow's program will present a talk on the "Purpose, Origin and Benefits of the Longfellows Club," by Art Casey, in addition to the musical program which will present Ray McCall, violinist; Jack McCarty, popular pianist, and Dick Gardner in popular songs.

The announcers' audition scheduled yesterday at 11 a. m. for aspirants from Santa Ana J. C. was postponed until next Tuesday at the same time. It seems that a radio could not be obtained at the last moment so that the students assembled in the auditorium could not participate in the selection of the winner. The audition was to have been received in the auditorium and the student body was to have picked the best audition by popular applause. The audition will be held next Tuesday at 11 a. m. parents. He will point out the fact that discrepancies in the actions of children are often due to the transition from childhood to young manhood, and if they are accepted and soothed during this period boys and girls will always return to a peaceful fold.

More than 400 birds will sing in an anniversary celebration when the Carnation Crosscuts from the Lof 'o the Day is broadcast over the NBC network including KFI, between 8:30 and 9 a. m. tomorrow. The occasion marks the beginning of the third year in which Dr. Laurence L. Cross has used a choir of feathered songsters on his morning program.

EXTEND TIME OF CONTEST ON KREG

Dr. E. H. Riesen, sponsor of the "Strange Facts" program being broadcast over KREG every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 6:45 p. m., has announced an extension of the time limit in the contest for strange facts to use in his program. The contest was originally scheduled to close October 7. The new date set for ending the competition is November 7.

Many interesting facts have been submitted during the contest, some of which were not available and the time extension was granted in order that more listeners might have opportunity to win the $5 cash award promised for the best strange fact submitted that is acceptable.

ANNOUNCE OPENING TODAY OF POPULARITY CONTEST FOR REGISTER CARRIERS

A popularity contest for carriers of The Register was announced today by R. M. Conklin, circulation manager in charge of the corps of boys who deliver the daily paper to the thousands of homes in Santa Ana and other communities of the county.

"A superficial canvass of the business men of Santa Ana would lead us to believe that around 90 per cent of them had at some time back in those days of boyhood, carried a newspaper route," Conklin said.

"We know of no boyhood occupation which lends itself to a sure and definite training in the elementary principles of a successful career so much as that of the carrier boy for a daily newspaper."

"That this is an obvious channel to excellent training is evidenced by the great number of successful men in all walks of life who claim their first regular job was as a carrier boy."

"Interest in the newspaper carrier boy is universal. Millions of people know their carrier and respect him for his grit and his patience, his efforts to build his route, his punctuality and precision in delivery, his courteous but determined efforts to collect from his customers."

Carriers Complimented

"Many letters have been received at the offices of The Register complimenting some carrier for his business-like manner, his ex-

"INSIDE DOPE" IN BROADWAY PICTURE

Just what goes on behind the scenes in Washington?

This year and at this time of the year, this is a question particularly interesting to all.

Starting tomorrow at the Fox Broadway theater, "The Merry-Go-Round," starring Lee Tracy, will give the inside story of Washington, of a congressman, sent there to represent the people, and the story of his adventures in the political city of the country.

There are hundreds in Santa Ana just waiting to see Lee Tracy again. They remember him too well in "The Blessed Event." So well, that any picture in which he might appear here again will be a big box office attraction. But in "The Merry-Go-Round" Santa Anans are to see him in a really big production, one that he has just an important part in as in "The Blessed Event" and one in which they will like him even better.

The picture plays here Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

CLOSE "RED DUST" SHOWING TODAY

Final showing of the picture "Red Dust," with Clark Gable and Joan Harlow, will be made at the Fox Broadway tonight. The picture opened here Sunday. The story of what takes place on a rubber plantation in Indo-China when the wife of an engineer falls in love with the overseer of the plantation, their weeks alone together and the jealousy and sportsmanship of another type of girl who also loves the overseer, makes the picture worth seeing.

Gable and Harlow are being hailed as another great romantic team.

Phil Swing Can Testify—

About the Tribulations of a Republican Congressman in Getting What He Wants from a Democratic Congress.

Last spring Mr. Swing wanted $25,000 from congress to finance protection against threatened floods in Palo Verde valley.

Could he get it?

Well, Mr. Swing finally wired home to a prominent Democrat, Mr. C. M. Brown, of Redlands, appealing for help.

Mr. Brown, in response to the urgent telegram from Congressman Swing, then interceded with Democratic Majority Leader Rainey, at Washington.

THIS INCIDENT SHOWS THAT:

- 1—A Democrat can be depended upon to cooperate with Republicans for the good of the country.
- 2—It takes a Democrat to get results from a Democratic Congress.

Your citrus growers and oil workers who are interested in protective tariff must keep these things in mind.

City Officers Arrest 31 During Year For Drunk Driving

9 SERVE TIME
IN JAIL; FINES
LEVIED ON 20

BOARD TO TAKE
TEACHER CASES TO HIGH COURT

Persons who drive automobiles in Santa Ana while under the influence of liquor can well expect to pay for that offense and pay rather heavily, according to records of such cases dug out of City Judge J. G. Mitchell's court today.

And persons seem to know it too, for during the entire year to date there have been only 31 persons arrested by city police on charges of driving while under the influence of liquor. In years gone by many of those arrested on this charge may have had the charges reduced to reckless driving, but not now. They are booked for driving drunk and that charge stands against them, city officials declare.

Of the 31 arrested during the year, nine went to jail. These nine were given opportunities to pay a fine instead of taking a jail sentence, but because they did not have the money, or for other reasons, they went to jail and served their terms. Five were given 100 days each, one 125 days, one 150 days, one 75 days and one 60 days.

Twenty of the 31 arrested were fined a total of $3750, the fines running from $100 to $300, but all of these have not paid, the records show. Of the total of $3750 levied in fines, only $2013 has been collected so far. Several are paying on a monthly basis and some will not pay at all. One fined $500, has disappeared and another fined $200 will pay, it is said, but hasn't.

There are 11 of the 20 who have not paid their fines in full, one of which is a woman, the only woman in the lot arrested so far this year for "driving drunk."

Two cases were dismissed. One was a case of mistaken identity and the other was for the purpose of filing a new complaint. The new complaint was handled in the superior court and no record of the outcome was made in Judge Mitchell's court.

The record of 31 driving drunk cases for the year is believed to be unusually small for a city of this size in California, as compared with records made by the motor vehicle department and other agencies, officials say.

PRESIDENT FIGHTS FOR VICTORY

Beginning his final drive for re-election with the statement that campaign utterances of his opponent were "violations of the truth," President Hoover is shown above as he addressed a vast throng in Indianapolis on October 28. The closeup reveals the president in fighting mood. In Indianapolis the president spoke at Butler University to a crowd that filled the hall. An overflow crowd estimated at 50,000 heard his speech through amplifiers. En route to Indianapolis he spoke at points in Ohio, West Virginia and Indiana.

OFFICERS FOR
H. S. CLASSES
ARE ELECTED

Robert Wimbush, Arthur Strancke and Albert Pickert have been elected presidents, respectively, of the senior, junior and sophomore classes at Santa Ana High school in classes elections held yesterday.

President Wimbush of the seniors will be assisted by Bob Mitchell, vice-president; and Floyd Montgomery, secretary-treasurer. All three are prominent in athletics, are now out for football, and were members of Santa Ana's 1931 championship team.

Walter Hendrie, vice-president; and Mary Ford, secretary-treasurer, are new officers who will assist President Strancke with the junior class. Hendrie and Strancke are regular members of this year's football team.

President Pickert of the sophomores will be aided by Nancy White, vice-president; and Frances Was, secretary-treasurer, who decisively won in the student election.

All Santa Ana high school students, as well as those of the junior college, today were given the opportunity to cast their vote for Hoover, Roosevelt or Thomas in a presidential straw vote conducted by the faculty.

SURVEY SHOWS
WINDBREAKS
PROTECT TREES

A brief survey just completed by the farm adviser's office, following the recent winds, shows conclusively the advantages of windbreaks in the protection of trees and fruit from the mechanical and desiccating injuries occasioned by the wind, officials declare.

Unprotected orchards located in the path of the wind have suffered considerable loss of fruit of this year's set as well as next year's, according to Farm Adviser Harold E. Wahlberg. The loss of fruit, however, is not so consequential as the effects of defoliation and desiccation of the tender growth of the tree, which normally is the potential fruit bearing wood of the future. Many trees and orchards will suffer the effect of this wind for considerable time, even with favorable conditions over several seasons, the adviser says.

Many miles of valuable windbreaks have been planted during the past 10 years, but their number and frequency should be materially increased in the exposed districts, Wahlberg states. The agricultural extension service has recommended the planting of windbreaks as an essential adjunct to successful orange growing in those districts where winds are a factor. Eucalyptus trees are best suited to this purpose, because of their rapid growth, freedom from disease and longevity, according to Wahlberg.

Looking to the Future!

This store is dedicated to the principle of selling boys' apparel that will never be the "cheapest made," but always will represent "the lowest cost per day's wear!"

We follow this policy in face of the prevailing policy of stores to advertise "cheaper than anybody else," "only Blank & Co. can sell so cheap," etc. Cheap, cheap, cheap—mere ballyhoo!

We believe that parents still care for and are proud of their children, still continue to buy sound merchandise of good value and reputation, and will be better customers of the stores that sell honest goods honestly priced.

We believe Santa Ana is going forward, not backward, and that the merchants who will go forward with it must act in a way that will command the respect and confidence of the greatest buyer in the world—the intelligent American family.

Sorority Group Plans Dinner and Dancing For Holiday

Of all the many and varied celebrations of the Halloween season, few exceeded in charm and interest, that dinner dance enjoyed by Sigma Tau Psi sorority members and their escorts, who motored to Hacienda La Rambla, near San Pedro, for the festive function.

Gowned in their prettiest dance frocks, sorority members themselves lent a charming decorative effect to enhance that provided by baskets of bright orange berries, cottons, ebon place cards with the sorority crest in brilliant orange, and Halloween favors all gleaming in the soft radiance of tall black tapers in golden candleholders.

An elaborate six-course dinner menu was served in a private dining room, after which the young people enjoyed dancing until a late hour.

Sigma Tau Psi members present were the Misses Eloise Wright, Agnes Wheeler, Alice Majors, Louise Leck, Mary Emil Majors, Alice Hanson, Betty Brakeman, Betty Rowland, Jean Rowland, Mary Reed, Jean Peacock, Mary Jane Sturgeon, Carol House, Jean House and Beth Westcott, Mrs. C. Wynton Hoyle, Mrs. Edmund Linsendard and Mrs. Herbert Hill, while the men were Messrs. Bob Gardner, Bill Hewitt, Don Lewis, Howard Mender, Robert Smith, Toby White, Sam Blake, Keith Lee, Clarence Hunt, Tommy Prendergast, Howard Hale, Spencer Richardson, Hal Dunham, George Conway, Don Harwood, C. Wynton Hoyle, Edmund Linsendard and Herbert Hill.

Small Lad is Host to His Playmates at Merry Party

While older folk were dancing and dining in Halloween gaiety, children too were celebrating the season of hobgoblins and pranks with a merry party at the home of Master Clifford A. Ranney Jr., who was privileged to entertain his playmates.

Clifford is the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford A. Ranney, 318 Berkeley street, and late last week he and his mother greeted quite a crowd of youngsters with a few of their mothers, at a happy afternoon of Halloween games. The small guests were delighted with the decorations of the home, and especially with the table where pumpkin, jack-o'-lanterns and clever place cards all suggested the holiday. The individual cakes were round and were iced with orange frosting to represent small pumpkins, and orange pumpkins centered the slices of ice cream served.

In the merry games of the afternoon little Miss Nordean Shirley and Master Donald Slopier Jr. scored high and were rewarded with prizes.

Master Clifford's guests were Shirley Letten, Donald Butler, Nordean Shirley, Betty Shirley, Evelyn Wyckoff, Ronald Jones, Billy Jones, Bobby Shirley, Paul Reese Butler, Joan Ranney, Patty Jackson, Billy Santa Ana, Evonne Hopkins, Betty Irons, Jackie Eckman and Donald Slopier Jr. of Long Beach, while mothers present to share with Mrs. Ranney, the pretty scene with all the children at play, were Mrs. Donald Slopier, Mrs. Jack Eckman and Mrs. E. Skinner of Long Beach, and Mrs. W. G. Letten and Mrs. R. M. Wyckoff of this city.

Violin's Tale Told Ebell Juniors at November Meet

A program which was a triple pleasure was presented before Junior Ebell members in Ebell clubhouse last night when Mrs. Jack Cloyes, Georgia Belle Walton and Ruth Armstrong joined in depicting, through mediums of narration and music, the history of the violin.

A pleasing balance was struck between the two forms. Mrs. Cloyes' appealing description alternating with interpretations of work ranging from the old masters to more modern exponents of the instrument, the latter presented by Miss Walton, violinist, and Miss Armstrong, pianist. Mrs. Cloyes traced the violin from its beginnings, elaborating upon the part played in its development and perfection by such ancient craftsmen as Amati, "Joseph" and Stradivari, and upon the invaluable contributions to violin literature of artists ranging from the "wizards," Paganini, to Kreisler. Her comment was supported and illustrated by Miss Walton and Miss Armstrong with works of such exemplary composers as Bach, Pfitzner, Boulanger and Debussy.

In a brief talk Mrs. Amelia Meagher of the Orange County Meagher of the Orange County Tuberculosis association, pointed out that nearly 600 young people had enjoyed the benefits of the camp since it was founded in 1924. Mrs. Emrys D. White made an appeal in behalf of the Day Nursery, and the president was authorized to appoint committees to investigate both needs.

New members admitted within the last month include the Misses Virginia Bailey, Beryl Willis, Mary Bower and E. Mabel Robertson, and Mesdames Raymond B. Terry, R. C. Harris, Robert Heffner, Clifford, Mrs. Robert S. Wade, president, announced the possibility of forming a new section in publicity writing.

Various club reports were heard from the Misses Lucinda Griffith, Mary Safley, Nellie Blake, Dorothy Forgy, Mrs. J. P. Sidford and Mrs. Charles Dawes, the latter urging members to complete questionnaires issued and forward them immediately to E. N. Nealey, December speaker.

Mrs. L. M. Forney and Mrs. W. Maxwell Burke were Ebell officers represented at last night's meeting.

Mrs. John Teasman presided at the tea run after the program, when refreshments were served by Miss Safley and a group of the younger members.

Attention of members of the Santa Ana B-P. W. club was called today by Mrs. Adelaide Cochran, president, to the November meeting of the Southern Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, to be held Saturday, November 12, at the University of California at Los Angeles (Westwood). The West Los Angeles B-P. W. club will serve as hostess organization. Reservations should be made by local members with Mrs. N. E. Mayhill, phone 548, by Saturday, November 5, it was stated.

Among convention features cited in the official notices are important business considerations; the semi-annual council or presidents; an outstanding dinner program; and a tour of the university campus. Speakers will include Captain Paul Perigord, professor of French civilization, representative of the League of Nations; Dr. Ernest C. Moore, vice president and provost of the university; and George P. Larsen, secretary of the Citizens University Council of Organizations.

Santa Ana officials announced today that a legislative proposal would be presented Monday night in Ketter's gold room at a 6 o'clock dinner, and that cards would follow. No book review is scheduled until November 18, they pointed out.

Gold Star Mothers

Because their regular meeting date fell too close to Armistice Day, Gold Star Mothers set it for a week earlier, and Monday assembled in Legion hall for their customary monthly session. Morning hours were devoted to work on a comfort for a child's bed, and the remainder of the day given over to piecing quilt blocks. The meeting had reunion features which made it especially enjoyable, for there were several members who had not been at meetings for many months. These included Mrs. Clara Rozelle, recently returned from Oregon to get her effects here in order preparatory to returning north for a much longer stay; Mrs. Lamming, just home from a stay of some two years in Nebraska, and Mrs. Martha Wubbin, who had missed a succession of meetings because of illness.

Others present included Mrs. Martha Elliott, Mrs. Iona S. Sharp, Mrs. Susie Lamb, Mrs. Bessie Windham, Mrs. Emma Christensen, Mrs. Edith Reynolds and Mrs. Jennie Graves.

Each of the members brought a contribution to the appetizing luncheon enjoyed at noon, during which plans were made to accept the invitation of the American Legion for special seats from which to watch the Armistice Day parade in Fullerton.

COUNTY SHRINE CLUB NAMES PATRONS FOR CHARITY BALL

No social event of the year commands more attention nor is awaited with more pleasurable anticipations than the annual Christmas Charity ball of the Orange County Shrine club. So announcement made today by Otto R. Haan, club president, of selection of a date and the naming of this long list of patrons and patronesses, for the 1932 event, met with a world of interest.

Wednesday night, November 16, has been set aside as the date for this anticipated function, twelfth in a line of consecutive yearly events. And again the ball will find its setting in the Santa Ana Masonic temple where the spacious basement ballroom will be reserved for dancing, and the lounge on an upper floor set aside for bridge. Prizes will be awarded those making special card scores, and other equally pleasant plans are being formulated by the committee, including the choice of an orchestra for the dancing to be given with the grand march at 8:30 o'clock.

Plans Outlined
As Shrine club president, Mr. Haan has had as one of his chief duties in connection with the function, the naming of patrons and patronesses to assist him and his social committee members in maintaining the friendly atmosphere of the evening. Every community in the county is represented on this list, as it is in the membership of the Shrine club. Also every community will benefit from the financial returns of the ball, for its proceeds all go to bring Christmas happiness into poverty stricken Orange county homes. Because the need this year promises to be greater than in any previous year since the charity balls were introduced, a correspondingly large crowd is anticipated to aid in raising funds for Christmas charity.

Assistants Named
Santa Ana will contribute a long list of patrons and patronesses, including Messrs. and Mesdames A. H. Allen, James L. Allen, Charles E. Bressler, George S. Briggs, Robert L. Brown, Joe C. Burke, Sam L. Collins, A. J. Cruckshank, Frank C. Drumm, R. T. Dunning, Richard A. Emison, Rolfe R. Hays, A. Hoffman, Sam Hurwitz, Logan Jackson, Sam Jernigan, C. S. Kelley, Roy E. Langley, H. G. Lyan, John Martell, John Matson, A. I. Mellen, Herbert L. Miller, Ralph A. Mosher, B. J. MacMullen, Wm. L. McKay.

Messrs. and Mesdames Fred Newcomb, W. E. Peterson, Maurice C. Phillips, Elton Rehm, Fred A. Ross, F. C. Rowland, R. V. Shafer, Joseph P. Smith, Charles A. Swanson, Charles D. Swanner, J. A. Tarpley, E. B. Trago, John W. Tubbs, James E. Walker, R. O. Winckler, Dr. and Mrs. John I. Clark, Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Patton, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Paul, Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Yeagie.

Theatre Group Joins In Celebration of Halloween

Employees of the Fox theaters of the city joined in a merry celebration of Halloween Monday night, holding the affair in the apartments over the Broadway theater. Lighted pumpkins cast their ghastly glow about the softly lighted rooms. Cornstalks filled in corners and added to the appropriate seasonal decorations.

The group spent the evening playing cards and dancing. Typical of Halloween were the refreshments served, for they included bright red apples, doughnuts, pumpkin pie and cider. A black and orange theme was observed in the pretty appointments used at this time.

Every Johnson acted as host at the affair. Those sharing the happy occasion with him were Grace Middlebrook, Margaret Faruk, Dorothy Perking, Mary Reed, Winifred Johnston, Evelyn Morrison, Helen Brown, Mary Lynn Wade and Messrs. Willis Kirkpatrick, Ellsworth Weekly, Kenneth Kingery, Thomas Jengles, Harold Mathews, Edward Sugen, Maurice Burns and Ralph Adams.

College Students Have Annual Dance in Beach City

With Huntington Beach Memorial hall as the attractive setting, of the most enjoyable of jaycee dances was held Saturday evening in compliment to freshmen members of the college. This affair, which was semi-formal, was given by sophomore class members in accordance with the annual tradition of the upperclassmen.

Harmonizing with the silver and green decorations of the hall, large baskets of yellow chrysanthemums with handles carrying fluffy bows of silver and black tulle, were placed about the room. Dance programs were particularly clever as they were of Japanese hand made paper with blocked baskets carrying glittering paper flowers.

Miss Helen Bower, social commissioner, was in charge of the program; Miss Evelyn Fairley, decorations, and Jimmy Quiggle and Duncan Harnois arrangements for the setting.

for 15 minutes to permit the fish to absorb the cheese flavor.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Chicken Creole (for ten)
2 leghorn hens
1-1/2 cups melted fat, part bacon fat
2 cups flour
salt and pepper
1 whole head of garlic
6 large tomatoes or
1 No. 2-1/2 can
3 green peppers
1 head celery
3 large onions
1 handful chopped parsley
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon cayenne

Yes, dear lady, almost everything goes into this chicken recipe but the kitchen stove, but you don't mind all the bother once you've tried it, it's too good to be fully described by mere words. Another of its minor virtues is its willingness to be warmed over for other meals—it's even better.

First, unjoint the hens, wash, drain and roll each piece in flour. Do you ever flour your chicken by shaking the pieces in a paper bag, flour in bag? It's the ideal way, no muss, no sticky fingers, no plates to wash.

Brown the chicken in hot fat, transfer to the big cooking kettle and in the fat remaining brown the extra flour. Turn this over the chicken and over the browned flour stew the various vegetables, chopped or what-have-you, as the occasion demands.

And don't be scared to use the WHOLE head of garlic. The long slow cooking and the combination of flavors... or, well, just try it and you'll get what I mean. Add enough water—in fact, a lot of water—to the chicken, bring to a quick boil, then cover and simmer for at least five hours. The gravy will be a luscious brown when the dish is ready and the hen will be as tender as it was when a mere flapper. Boiled rice always goes with this chicken dish.

The calories are a bit hard to count for this job, or rather I should say to divide evenly, for some are pretty keen about getting their share of gravy. I'd say that 600 calories was a fair total for generous servings.

SOME GOOD FISH STORIES combined with a few recipes like chicken creole will put you on the map as a fine cook. You may have these stories for the expense and trouble of sending me a stamped, self-addressed envelope any day this week. No charge for the leaflet.

Thursday we will have my ideal quick dessert, a whipped cream cake with your favorite jam.

Special Council Meeting On Land Exchange Nov. 22

CITY BOARD TO GET REPORT ON GRAVEL DEAL

ORANGE, Nov. 2.—A discussion of the exchange of land on South Main street near the Santiago creek owned by the Consolidated Rock company for gravel land on East Chapman avenue owned by the city and located near the bridge, resulted yesterday in a special meeting of the council being called for November 22 in order to give the matter further consideration before the regular council meeting, December 6.

It was brought out that the land on East Chapman avenue was leased for 10 years by the rock company in 1926. The firm removed $11,000 worth of gravel from the site and on February 19, 1927, when the flood of that year stopped operations. No gravel has been removed since. C. C. Bonebrake, city street superintendent, stated, and he believed, he said, that about the same amount remained in the bed as had been removed.

Terms of the lease are now being considered by City Attorney H. L. Dearing, who will report to the council at the called meeting. Miss Grace Lentz was sworn in as a welfare worker for the city following the acceptance of the resignation of Mrs. Lillian Veltemann. The state compensation insurance was renewed and a premium of $995.53 ordered paid.

Open Golden Jubilee Year November 6

ORANGE, Nov. 2.—The Golden Jubilee year of the First Christian church will open November 6, the Sunday preceding the 49th anniversary of the founding of the church on November 10, 1883. The program for the entire year has been arranged with a theme for each month, culminating in a golden anniversary banquet November 10, 1933, and a golden anniversary service, November 12.

At the beginning of this year, the church property is not only in good condition but is free from all debt, it is announced. During the present month the veteran Christian workers are to be special guests during the evening services. On November 6, former Sunday school superintendents, regardless of denominations, will be given recognition. November 13 former Sunday school teachers will be so honored. November 20 has been set aside to honor former preachers and November 27 former choir members will be favored.

The church has four charter members who joined as such 49 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Pixley, J. B. Boring, of Orange, and Mrs. Mary Lockhart, of Los Angeles.

CITY OFFICIALS PRESENT REPORTS AS COUNCIL MEETS

ORANGE, Nov. 2.—Interest was added to the usual reports given to the Orange county council by heads of departments yesterday, when City Attorney H. L. Dearing gave a resume of the recent conference of the League of Municipalities at Coronado.

W. J. Richardson, water superintendent, reported a meeting of city water superintendents of the state at Coronado where he said the chlorination of water had been discussed. Other cities have a much higher percentage of delinquent water bills than has Orange, he stated, some cities having eight per cent of water bills delinquent while Orange has less than one per cent.

Chief of Police B. B. Richards reported $1,464.55 collected in licenses, 11 arrests and four traffic citations during the past month. Superintendent Richardson reported 24,846,000 gallons of water pumped during October from the city wells. Frank Dale, building inspector, reported $77.55 collected from electrical inspection, plumbing and building permits.

Ordinance No. 238, regarding the payment of city jurors, was up for second reading and was adopted.

COUNCIL VOTES SUM FOR LIGHTS ON PLAZA TREES

ORANGE, Nov. 2.—Plans for Christmas decorations for the plaza were made at the meeting of the Orange city council yesterday when it was decided that the usual amount of money for this purpose would be appropriated from the advertising fund. Last year, it was brought out, about $400 was required for lighting the trees and the other expenses incidental to the display, which was considered one of the most beautiful in the county. The matter was brought to the attention of council members by Carl Stuckey, representing the Merchants' association, who said merchants wished to be able to make definite plans for the Christmas season. It was brought out that a number of organizations of the city wished the money to be used for welfare work, but Mayor Clyde Watson pointed out that nearly the entire sum had been spent for labor last year.

Stuckey told councilmen that no definite action had been taken by Orange business men in the matter of closing stores on Armistice day but that Orange merchants were waiting to see what action would be taken by Santa Ana merchants in order that closing or keeping stores open might be uniform.

A letter was received from J. W. Price, city clerk of Anaheim, asking that the Orange council consider a resolution passed by the Anaheim council recently regarding a more equitable distribution of the gas tax. Anaheim's resolution advocated the widening of Anaheim and Center streets. No action taken.

A. W. Parsons appeared before the board asking a reduction of the plumbers' license from $50 a year to $20 a year. The request was granted and the license fee was set for this amount until the end of 1933.

Don't Deceive Yourself about a COLD!

A Cold is Nothing to Take Lightly and Nothing to Treat Lightly! A Cold is an Internal Infection Calling for Specific Internal Medication!

A cold is nothing to trifle with. You can't tell where it will end. Be serious in your treatment of a cold—and be intelligent!

Don't fall for half-way measures. They leave you with a half-cold—and there's nothing more dangerous.

A cold calls for a COLD remedy. Preparations good for a number of other things besides colds won't do. They only delay temporarily the symptoms of the cold while the cold itself goes on taking deeper and deeper root in your system. Several of the remedies which people commonly take for colds actually make the relief of a cold more difficult because these remedies are constipating and also make the system acid.

A cold also calls for internal medication. For a cold is an internal infection. Local or surface treatments can't reach the seat of the trouble and can't stop the infection spreading within your system.

Play Safe!

As soon as you catch a cold, take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. There is nothing wiser you can do, as your own doctor will probably tell you.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine does the four things necessary to rout a cold decisively and thoroughly. First of all, it opens the bowels, gently but thoroughly—the first step necessary in knocking a cold. Second, it kills the cold germs in the system, drives out the poisonous infection and reduces the fever. Third, it relieves the headache and that grippy feeling. Fourth, it tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack.

Thus it is the complete treatment you need.

Swift, Positive, Harmless!

Effective as it is, Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is absolutely safe for old and young to take. It contains no narcotics, does not upset the stomach or nauseate or cause ringing in the head.

In the form of dainty tablets, Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is convenient and pleasant to take. Comes in handy, pocket size boxes, cellophane-wrapped. All druggists in America sell Grove's Bromo Quinine and few will offer a substitute because they know its merit, famous for years. Keep it handy all winter and you will be in a position to stop a cold before it really gets started. Get a box today.—Adv.

To the blouse-conscious young this season, it is suggested that you look for silver instead of gold—the silver metal fabrics have it all over the gold right now, and it seems the right note when you consider that gray accents, fur trimmings and accessories are threatening to become ultra fashionable.

BAND BOX GIFT SHOP, 1164 E. Fourth. CHRISTMAS CARDS—pretty ones, serious ones, sentimental, and just clever ones the cleverest we've ever seen, and that's the kind most of us appreciate these lean Christmases—the one with the penny and its funny remarks—5, 10 and 15 cts. You won't need to look further than the BAND BOX GIFT SHOP for anything you need in Christmas cards this year.

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The farmer's car took him along, and not a single thing went wrong. He hopped out at his farmyard and then looked back down the road.

At last he said, "I'm satisfied! The Tinkies on their strange horse ride, will soon be here. The flying horse is pulling quite a load."

"I promised those fine lads a treat. They'll all be starved and glad to eat, so I must get real busy with my pots and pans and such. I have some chickens I can cook. Just think how good that's bound to look. I hope I'll have to watch the lads so they won't eat too much."

While he was getting things all set, the Tinkies began to fret because the flying horse had stopped, explaining it was fagged. "We'll all go out," weec Scouty cried. "We'll gladly walk, instead of ride, if you will just keep going. If you're too tired, you'll be dragged."

The horse, however, looked about, and when the Tinkies had piled out, it said, "Oh, I can reach the farm, but we must travel slow."

Then they continued on their way. Soon Windy loudly cried, "Hurray! We're here, and now we're going to have a real good meal, I know."

And he was right. The farmer met the bunch and said, "A table's set right out here in the open. I've cooked chicken for you all."

"Just sit right down and eat your fill, but use your heads. Don't eat until you're sick. There is no doctor very near that I can call."

"Oh, my!" snapped Duncy, "this is great. Bring on the chicken, I can't wait. Give me a great big drumstick. Someone else can have the wing."

The farmer served them, one by one. To him it was a lot of

Late News From Orange County Communities

Work On $100,000 Water System Under Way Soon

LA HABRA BOND BID ACCEPTED BY CITY BOARD

LA HABRA, Nov. 2.—The R. H. Moulton company, Los Angeles, was the successful bidder on the La Habra water bonds and the city engineer was ordered to proceed at once in the preparation of plans and specifications for the construction and installation of the $100,000 water system, at the meeting of the city council held last night. Only one other bid was received, that from the Pacific Company of California. The Moulton bid was $1-2 per cent interest and premium of 280. The Pacific firm bid $3-4 per cent interest and premium of 730.

In awarding the insurance contract for the city owned vehicles and equipment, the council distributed this business among the local agents. The Brunet company received the public liability and property damage; O. T. Stephens, fire and theft; and Ben S. Roberts, the manufacturers' and contractors' liability insurance.

Chief of Police A. J. Collins suggested to the council that a red light suspended over the intersection at Fullerton road and Central avenue would, in his opinion, have more effect in slowing down traffic at this point than the blinker now installed, and asked the council to consider this installation. He also asked for an auto sign to be placed at the intersection of Hillcrest avenue and Central avenue, near the west city limits, showing the end of the 25 mile zone. Both of these requests were granted by the council.

In the matter of spraying trees on the city property near the fire station and also on East Florence avenue, the city clerk was instructed to invite bids for this work as one complete job and to award the contract to the lowest bidder.

Engineer Sanks reported that the work of removing the dip at College and Central avenue had been completed and asked the council to consider the two plans he had prepared for the same work at Wallace and Central avenue. After much consideration, the council ordered the engineer to proceed with the work by installing a storm drain under the pavement and thus bring the surface of the street to a level rather than eliminate the dip by widening same.

2 AMENDMENTS DISCUSSED AT CLUB SESSION

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 2.—That it may be necessary to close schools in some of the poorer districts of California, owing to delinquent taxes, was one of the assertions made by C. E. Greer, chairman of the board of supervisors of San Bernardino county, in a talk at the joint weekly luncheon meeting of the Newport Harbor Service club and Costa Mesa Lions club at the Legion hall yesterday. Greer was speaking in favor of Proposition 9 on the November 8 ballot.

Mounting school and other costs of government, Greer said, might result in "California doing by delinquency, through tax delinquencies, what Russia has done in another way."

He maintained that the proposal to shift part of the school burden from real estate to other forms of taxation, such as a state sales tax and a state income tax, would provide relief.

Greer also discussed some of the arguments against the proposal. His opponents claimed that it will not reduce taxes in the aggregate and that it will probably increase them, that certain revenues are tax exempt and that the sales and income tax would not produce the required revenue, and that therefore there would probably be also a state ad valorem tax.

The two clubs also heard an argument by Wayne Goble, of Santa Ana, representing the Huntington Beach Improvement association, in favor of Proposition No. 11, which would grant certain state tidelands to Huntington Beach, with the right to drill for oil. His arguments were opposed by Stuart H. Lucas and others.

The club took no action on either of these two or any of the propositions on the ballot. There will be no meeting next week, as the Legion hall will be used election day as a polling booth.

The Rev. Arthur Richey, who is conducting services at the church, preached the usual evening sermon. A roll call by states was made, revealing natives of almost all the states present.

An addition to the usual musical program of the evening was the duet sung by Mr. and Mrs. John Gnagy, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Virgil Kiger.

OIL WELLS IN H. B. FIELD TO GET TEST SOON

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 2.—This field is shortly to undergo a production test of every well in the field which has been under curtailment. Production tests in Santa Fe Springs have been disappointing, according to oil men. The field as a whole is said to have failed to show anything like the pro rata production allotted to it and has made no increase whatever over the allowable production allotted under curtailment.

Producers Worried
Wells that were shut down or curtailed in every instance failed to come back to their former production and only a few showed any increase whatever over curtailment, it is said. What Huntington Beach will do is causing the oil men considerable anxiety. One Standard Oil company well here which was shut in was a 1600 barrel well and after several months was opened again for production, failed to produce any oil whatever. Only a redrill job can save it and even that plan is not absolutely certain, it is said.

Some oil men are expressing the opinion that it would be better to produce all the oil possible, store it above ground under curtailment, rather than try to cut production and then have the wells prove to be ruined or the output greatly reduced when curtailment has been enforced for a period of months.

Wells Being Redrilled
Activity in the field here is slightly increasing. The new redrill projects include the Wilshire well and the Young well on Ninth street between Walnut and Olive; the Frampton and California Drilling company wells on the east side near Delaware and Torrance avenues; the H. B. Oil company well at Sixteenth and Ocean; the McCaslin well at Ninth and Ocean. The last named well proved dry under a recent test of the 4700 foot sand and is being drilled deeper.

It is reported that the Wilshire Oil company will within the next six weeks start a new well on the Reliance company seven-acre lease in the old field near Garfield street adjoining the Globe lease, a part of the "Encyclopedia" lots. This well, it is claimed, will go to 5000 feet and will be the first genuinely deep test of the old section of the Huntington Beach field.

Rebuild Derricks
The Speck Oil company is rebuilding two derricks and replacing the tanks recently destroyed by fire at its wells in the town lot field. D. D. Dunlap and associates are drilling ahead below 4500 feet on their redrill job at the corner of Westminster and Garfield streets.

The Hill well at Fourteenth and Orange is awaiting the casing at 2200 feet depth. As soon as the casing is cemented in the well, a production test will be made and the well brought in if possible. A good sand has been encountered.

C. OF C. ASKS DISSOLUTION OF NEW GROUP

An effort has been inaugurated to secure the disbandment of the Santa Ana Merchants' association, formerly the merchants' division of the chamber of commerce, by directors of both the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and the Business Men's association, in a resolution adopted at a meeting of directors of both boards, which was held this morning in the chamber offices.

The resolution was adopted after a lengthy discussion, also called for the appointment of committees from both organizations to confer with leaders of the new Merchants' association at a meeting to be held in the chamber of commerce tonight to work out details for inducing officers and members of the Merchants' association to function as a merchants' division or committee of the chamber of commerce.

A motion was adopted by the chamber of commerce board accepting the resignation of A. Cavalli who was manager of the merchants' division of the chamber until it withdrew and became a separate body, "as per withdrawal received by the board members this morning. The motion included the statement that the chamber of commerce would no longer be responsible for the salary or any expenses contracted for by Cavalli.

Committees to Meet
Charles Rutledge, president of the chamber of commerce, who presided at the meeting, appointed J. P. Baumgartner, Carl Mock, Hugh J. Lowe and himself to meet tonight with the new Merchants' association officers and a committee to be appointed later today by Herbert Rankin, president of the Business Men's association. A meeting of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce is scheduled for tomorrow night.

The letter from Cavalli which was read said that the matter of merchants' fees closing on Armistice Day would be left up to the Business Men's association as in the past. No action was taken at the meeting this morning on the matter.

The consensus of the board members attending the meeting today was that Santa Ana chamber of commerce has been officially notified and have knowledge, through common report and newspaper articles, of the organization of the Santa Ana Merchants' association, A. Cavalli, secretary-manager.

Following is the resolution which was adopted at the meeting:

During the discussion and explanations on the constitutional measures, Lew Blodgett, former Huntington Beach city attorney, made an appeal for the support of proposition 11, which would give Huntington Beach the right to drill oil wells to offset those of a major oil company. He appealed to those present to give the oil and the proposition to the city of Huntington Beach and the state rather than to the Standard Oil company. He branded the "save the beaches" propaganda as misleading.

Under the direction of Miss Myrtle Martin, the junior college quartet—Martin Bowman, Marquise Hare, Rutherford Williams and William Fox—sang several numbers, and Hare, Bowman and Fox later sang as a trio. SCHOOL BOARD EXPENDITURES TO BE CHECKED

With the Santa Ana school system being operated on a greatly curtailed budget for this year, discussion of school finances played an important part in last night's meeting of the Santa Ana board of education.

Everett Boynton, director of finances and the budget, pointed out that great care must be used in expenditures of funds, particularly until the actual tax delinquency for this year is known. If the schools are to be operated within the budget.

Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson suggested that all proposed expenditures in the future be checked by Boynton against the budget to prevent overruns on funds provided under the budget.

On Henderson's recommendation a resolution will be presented at the next meeting of the board, November 16, outlining the duties and responsibilities of the director of finance. This resolution is being prepared by a special committee with the following members: Dr. Marguerite Baker, W. M. Burke, and M. B. Youd.

RADIO BROADCAST ANNIVERSARY

Today is the twelfth anniversary of radio broadcast. There is to be no special celebration of the occasion. This is probably due to the fact that the rugged child keeps everyone so busy with the usual routine that there is not opportunity for special plans. And maybe it is because there is so much competition in the industry. But the listeners can take time to marvel at the progress.

On November 2, in 1920 station KDKA in Pittsburgh broadcast election returns with a power of one-half kilowatt.

Do you remember, in the '20's, the "radio parties"? Only people who were very progressive had radios and they had radio parties and invited their friends in to hear this thing or that and many times the parties were terrible flops because the faith in the radio wasn't always justified. When nothing came through and the hostess had provided no alternative form of entertainment the disappointment was so keen that the party just couldn't be salvaged from the doldrums. And then there were those people, some still exist, who never turned the radio off. In those homes its screeches and wheezes, and there were those things in those days, were an obligato to every conversation.

But there were thrills back in the early days of the radio, too. There was the pride in the mechanical son's home-made outfit; there was excitement in getting distance; there was the pleasure in sharing in a great event such as Colonel Lindbergh's flight and subsequent acclaim. There was the new insurance against loneliness.

A thoughtful woman was heard to regret that her children would never know the thrill of riding in an automobile for the first time as she had known it. The same thing is true of listening to the radio. The radio in twelve years has reached the point where it is one of those things we take for granted and don't think much about, except to complain of. Like the automobile, heat, artificial light, a hundred other things we accept it with very little thought, except now and then to disloyally think how nice it would be to live in quiet isolation from everything intruding. We would enjoy it just about twenty-four hours. At the end of that time we would be ready for a real celebration of this anniversary of the radio broadcast.

EASY BORROWING FOR THE U. S. TREASURY

It appears that the United States Treasury is making large short-term loans at practically no expense to the government. It may be known that these loans are made on a discount rate rather than at a fixed interest rate. On September 26 last, the treasury borrowed $100,665,000 at 99.941, for 92 days, which amounts to an annual rate of but 0.23 per cent. On October 7, 75,954,000 was borrowed at 99.951, equal to an annual rate of 0.19 per cent. And on October 17, $75,000,000 was borrowed at 99.965, equal to an annual rate of 0.14 per cent.

This is extraordinary. The Treasury is actually borrowing money without cost. Such easy borrowing is looked upon in high financial circles with grave anxiety. It is so easy, that the government is apt to go on and pile up a debt which later may come to plague the country. The Financial and Commercial Chronicle, the leading financial publication of the country, makes the statement that it is not a mark of the high credit of the government, but a mark of dangerous inflation. Most of this money, says the editor, is Federal Reserve money deposited in members banks which have no use for it, and are therefore willing to let it go out for 90-day periods until such time as they can loan it more advantageously. In other words, money which is intended to offer credit to carry on business finds its way back into the treasury in the way of loans to make good the huge deficit that is piling up.

Here is something that is not what it seems. Political speakers are gulling the public by announcing that the credit of the government is the highest of any in the world. We think it is. But this borrowing of huge amounts by the treasury at no cost is not the sign of it. Rather, it is a factor which might well shake the credit of the country if persisted in.

WHEAT AT NEW LOW

Wheat yesterday sold at a new low price. Wheat has not been so cheap for three hundred and fifty years.

The immediate cause for the low price was the ruling by the British government that Canadian wheat shipped from our eastern seaports could not be received in England duty free, but was subject to the new English tariff. Immediately the ruling went into effect wheat speculators realized that all Canadian wheat now within the United States was subject to that tariff. The ruling had the effect of adding wheat to our surplus. The natural result was that wheat prices went still lower.

Canadian ports are frozen for a good portion of the winter and wheat cannot leave those ports. Whether this will result in an advantage to the American wheat farmer by forcing England to buy American wheat during the winter months when she cannot secure it from Canada is a matter of speculation. It will, however, prevent Canadian wheat from moving to an English market over American railroads, waterways, and steamships, and to that extent deprive our people of useful employment, while Canadian people will be forced to store their wheat during such time as the ports of Canada are icebound. Western Canada may find that the Canadian railway charges add to their cost of marketing wheat, and it may result in the abandonment of some of their wheat acreage, but whatever relief the American farmer is to secure from abandoned acreage will be determined by the size of the next world crop; in the meantime tariff regulations within the British Empire continue to batter and jolt our own economic structure.

ECONOMIC NATIONALISM

One of the marked factors in world affairs since the war is the extensive growth of economic nationalism. Countries which until recent years have freely traded with other countries have raised tariff walls at the borders to keep out the goods of the rest of the world. Many of these countries are largely dependent upon other countries for products and raw materials to meet the needs of their economic life. Yet they act for all the world as if they believed themselves capable of becoming a hermit nation. The results of such a policy must have the same effect upon their national life as that which results when an individual in our own modern civilization attempts the life of a hermit. The only result can be a lapse toward semi-barbarism.

Political nationalism, which was little known a century and a half ago, a system of political exclusiveness leading to chauvinism, better known in popular parlance as 100 per cent patriotism, is now being supplemented by this economic nationalism. Consistency inevitably links the two together. The disappearance of world territory that can be exploited, which until recent years furnished a market for the surplus goods of productive countries, has led these countries to limit their home markets as far as possible to their own exclusive use.

The far reaching changes which are to follow this growth of economic nationalism must be apparent to any one who thinks. If carried far enough, it may be of some advantage in putting an end to wars among the nations. Most wars have been trade wars, a drive for foreign markets. If foreign markets cease to exist, there will be no need to protect the commerce on the high seas, and the main bone of contention between nations will cease to exist. But the great difficulty, generally overlooked even by those charged with the responsibilities of government, is that very few if any countries have enough natural resources to maintain a self-sufficient existence with our economic world life organized as it is. As we have said, the only result of such a policy would be to throw the world back to a simpler mode of existence. We hardly believe the nations are ready to undertake and carry out such a policy. The clock of time cannot so easily be turned back.

For this reason, the tide of economic nationalism, like that of political nationalism, if carried too far, is destined to sweep away all that which is most valuable in our present economic life. Political nationalism has cost the world an indescribable loss through the results of wars and revolutions. Economic nationalism will complete the tragedy unless the tendencies now manifest are checked.

Plays on Approval

Christian Science Monitor

The way of the playgoer grows exceedingly smooth. The path that leads to the theater door today is strewn with rose leaves and dangles with inducements. For these are thrifty days, and when the patron finally does buy a seat ticket he hopes it may procure him not merely entertainment but incidentally at least a refrigerator for the home or a windshield for his motor.

Now comes news from London of a startling innovation. A West End theater in that metropolis announces that "members of the audience who do not like the play sufficiently to remain after the second act will have their entrance money refunded." This adds an unexpected zest to theater-going and should augment the tribe of drama patrons. And it is not at all unlikely that the theatrical manager will gain instead of lose by his generous gesture.

For a certain shrewdness marks this managerial magnanimity. Note that the patron may stay until the second curtain falls before deciding superciliously that the play is not the thing he had hoped it would be. Now, it is notorious that the second act is the rock on which so many dramas founder. At best it often leaves the audience in the air and common curiosity impels it to remain for the third act to find out what the author is talking about. So that the spectator who came to scorn and leave at the end of Act II may stay and praise the finale of Act III.

With somewhat less equanimity marks the possibility be envisaged that the London manager's invitation may increase the clan of playwrights. As it is, any professional playwright will bear out the contention that composing of drama is the population's most-favored avocation. Indeed, that hard-worked person often feels that everyone in the world, excepting himself, is writing a play.

Is it necessary to point out that each budding Sophocles or Shaw knows beyond the shadow of a doubt that he could write a better third act for any play presented than that the better third act for any author doubtless has concocted? It is perhaps only the embryonic Shakespeare who will demand a refund at the box office, retiring to his attic, there to compose third acts to set the world afire, reaping gold and kudos as a fashionable doctor of plays.

There is No Royal Road

San Francisco Chronicle

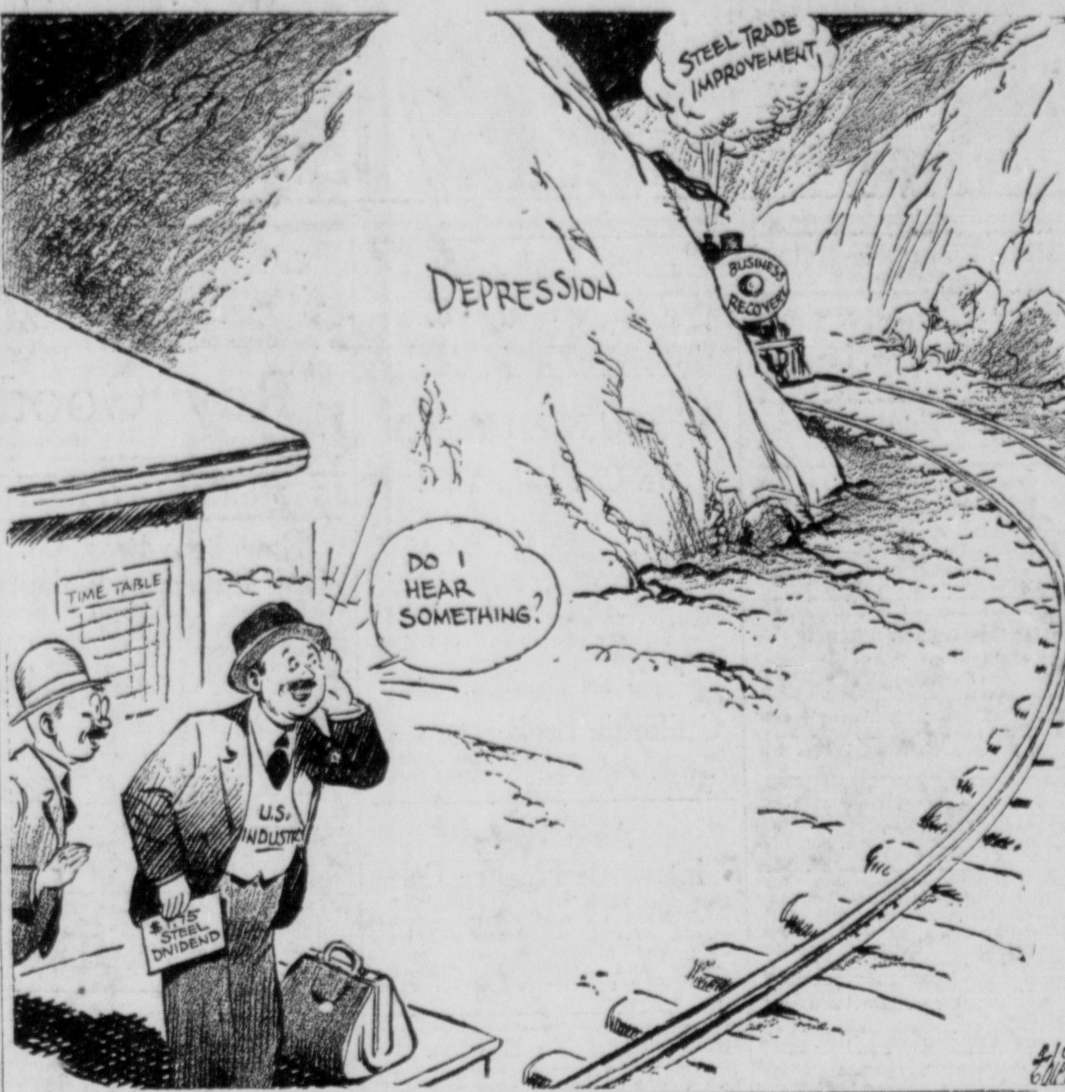

A little learning is a dangerous thing. Guy Holt, a publishing director, had occasion to recall this truism in an address before a group of New York publishers. He had much to say of literature he found dull, sentimental and merely literary.

But Mr. Holt capitalized as a deadly sin what he described as the "being improving" aspect of much that is published. Such a book, he said, "holds out to a host of innocent yearners the false promise of easily acquired culture, social success or financial betterment and it breeds a brood of persons who have mastered a hundred facts, none of which they understand, but who set themselves up as oracles."

Mr. Holt apparently has had experience with the pest who has gotten down to "D" in the encyclopedia and manages to switch the conversation round to dermatoids, Deuteronomy or the dichroscope.

The publisher had another interesting observation to make and that is that the "book is the stepchild in the family of printed matter. Newspapers and magazines are the pets."

She'll Be Comin' 'Round the Mountain When She Comes!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

ROOM FOR HOPE

We don't know what to do with Bill; He's filled with stubborn pride, And has a strong unbending will That will not be denied. Whenever meals are late he screams Until his lips go white, And nothing that we feed him seems To satiate his appetite.

One cat stalks solemnly away Whenever Bill appears— He bears in mind the dreadful day He nearly lost his ears. And when the puppy gives a growl And then a frightful yelp And then an agonizing howl, We know he means, "Help! Help!"

Bill's picture books are torn to shreds And scattered left and right, His soldier toys have lost their heads In many an unfair fight. And many a strong and sturdy chair— Among them an antique— Must be employed with tender care, Because their legs are weak.

There doesn't seem much hope for Bill Save in a life of crime; He seems so like a savage, still He may reform some time; In his tempestuous bosom may Be hid a heart of gold— We cannot tell—and anyway He's only one-year old.

Those "Danger" signs that are hung on the rear of motor trucks ought to be put on the front ends.

PARAGRAPHS

Russia's farms haven't produced enough to feed the people. Apparently you can't make a farm produce by threatening to shoot it.

But if Japan thinks it her duty to suppress bandits in Manchuria, why does she do nothing for America?

Why can't farmers get 1 per cent money as brokers do? Farming is a gamble, too.

Sometimes, however, a lie is just a refusal to give the truth to one who has no right to it.

Can't scientists invent an alarm system for banks that will lay down a barrage of tacks at each end of the street?

BOLSHIEVISM DOESN'T SEEM SO AWFUL WHEN FORTY CARS PASS YOU UNMOLESTED AND THEN A COP GETS YOU FOR SPEEDING.

But why end the depression if our only reward will be another epidemic of go-getters chasing suckers?

You can tell a college man. He talks like a longshoreman to show that education didn't make him unmanly.

Some investigator reports that profanity is increasing in America. It just shows you how quickly people adjust themselves to new conditions.

AMERICANISM: Wailing about the awful burden of taxation; enviously urging further taxation of those who have more than we have.

Society should make some provision for its bankrupt great, if only to keep them from selling such piffle to the magazines. Insult is denounced by thousands of town people who think a nut tree doesn't belong to a farmer if it isn't close to his house.

Maybe there is something in this "European polish" the travelers talk about. No native American can polish an apple like that.

IT IS HARD TO BELIEVE IN WOMAN'S EQUAL INTELLIGENCE WHEN YOU OBSERVE WHAT SHE MARRIES.

We never realized how conservative Mr. Hoover is until we heard his conception of a "fighting speech."

Being insulted preserves heat under the collar, too.

The final G. O. P. hope is that the boys got the grouch out of their system by voting in the Digest pool.

But how could they advertise a good movie, now that all of the adjectives have been used up on bum ones?

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

THE WAR ON DEPRESSION

Whoever coined the phrase "the war on depression" consciously or unconsciously put his finger on the most important source of power for our economic recovery.

Fighting a war and fighting a depression are enterprises that have much in common.

A depression, like a war, is due to deep-seated causes that the quiet counsels of great statesmanship can remove.

As war must have its general staff, back of the firing line, determining the broad lines of strategy, so must depression have, working in the background, a leadership that can map the broad program of attack.

But the parallel goes deeper. In the waging of war, certain mass qualities emerge. They are:

(1) The emotions of men rise to a pitch of exaltation that inspires extraordinary activity.
(2) Confusion of aim gives way to certainty of aim, even if the aim be a bit over-simplified in war time.

(3) Selfishness, save for the reprehensible few, gives way to a broad unselfishness that is willing to spend and be spent in the service of a common cause.

(4) A moratorium is declared on nagging criticism of public men and public policies unless the objective of the criticism is a life-and-death matter.

(5) Men learn how to pull together.

(6) And leadership is followed, even if the leadership is something less than the followers would like.

By these six means, democracies, for all their normal confusion and conflict, manage to wage wars quite as successfully as kingships and dictatorships.

This six-sided war pirit has its bad aspects.

Much that is vital in democracy is, for the time being, adjourned. That freedom of speech, press, and assembly without which neither scientific nor social progress is possible goes overboard.

Even the most democratic of leaders goes autocratic.

But wars are won that way!

What about winning the war against depression? I shall speak of that tomorrow.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

WHY?

"I wish I knew some way of making Clarisse practice her music."

"Doesn't she practice?"

"I should say not. If I didn't force her to go to the piano and stand there until she began playing she would not touch it. I lie awake nights trying to find a way to get her to practice. I've promised her everything but it's all no use."

"Why don't you try letting her alone for a change?"

"She wouldn't do a thing, I'm telling you. Know what she did last week? So deceitful. I was so upset I cried. I stayed there to the piano and I stayed there until she got her music on the rack and began running her fingers up and down. I had people coming to dinner so I had to go. I listened every once in a while and I heard her playing. At least I heard the piano going."

"Well, her father came home early on account of the company and he came to me in the pantry and said, 'Mary, is Clarisse supposed to be practicing or what?'"

"She's supposed to be practicing. But as a matter of fact she is reading a book and the kitten is doing the practicing."

There she sat reading a perfectly awful book and every once in a while touching the keys, and letting her kitten go up and down the keyboard to fool me into thinking she was playing phrases over and over."

"I'd stop giving her music lessons."

"It's just a shame when Mrs. Clure's Marie plays like a streak. She gave a recital at the town hall last week and everybody was crazy."

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY

U. S. TROOPS ADVANCE

On Nov. 2, 1918, American troops broke through the German lines along the Freya sector, capturing Champagneulle, Buzancy, Posse, Barriocourt, Villiers-devant-Dun and Doolcon.

The British army took Valenciennes. The Italians advanced north in the Trentino as far as the Sugana Valley.

King Boris of Bulgaria abdicated and a peasant government was formed under the leadership of M. Stambulivsky, who formed a republican army.

Time To Smile

NO SMALL MATTER

PROUD FATHER: So that's the little chap who is to carry on my name! Quite a responsibility, eh, nurse?

NURSE: It certainly is, Mr. Skokorowski—"The Humorist."

A SOFT ANSWER—

IRATE FATHER: I don't like the time you spend canoodling and cuddling my daughter. When I was courting my wife we sat on opposite sides of the room.

PROSPECTIVE SON-IN-LAW: Well, sir, if I had been courting your wife I should have done the same.—"Tit-Bits."

A GOOD SYSTEM

"My dear, your figure is improving wonderfully. Do tell me what reducing method you are using."

"Trying to live within my income is what keeps me living within my clothes."—"Paddy's."

LUCKY FOR BOTH

FATHER: Money, money, money! It's never anything else from you. I'm thankful I've only one daughter.

DAUGHTER (having got what she wanted): So am I, dad!—"The Humorist."
